

COLLOIDAL SEA MINERALS

"helping you feel better now"

Why Colloidal Sea Minerals?

One of the most essential requirements for a healthy body is an adequate intake of minerals and trace elements. Minerals and trace elements can literally mean the difference between buoyant health and serious disease. They are absolutely vital to our health and well being!

All nutrients (vitamins, proteins, enzymes, amino acids, carbohydrates, fats, sugars, oils, etc.) require minerals for activity. All bodily processes depend upon the action of minerals.

Colloidal Sea Minerals are a rich source of essential minerals and trace elements.

Ocean water is the world's largest continuous supply of minerals. Every natural mineral and trace element known to man exists in the world's ocean water.

Australian ocean waters are renowned worldwide for their purity. Additionally the hot, dry atmospheric conditions present throughout much of the Australian continent provide the ideal environment to naturally harvest minerals and trace elements through solar evaporation.

"What can Colloidal Sea Minerals do for me?"

Colloidal Sea Minerals can enhance your general well being and boost your immune system. Supplementing essential minerals and trace elements will keep your internal organs functioning as they should, assist your circulatory system and help boost your energy levels.

"You will be amazed at how great you feel!"

The human body must maintain an adequate mineral supply to sustain the balance between internal and external pressures of the body cells called osmotic equilibrium.

Hormonal secretion of glands is dependent upon mineral stimulation. Each endocrine gland of the body requires a minimal daily supply of specific minerals in order to sustain perfect hormonal balance.

Additionally, the acid-alkaline (pH) balance of the body's tissue is controlled by minerals.

Colloidal Sea Minerals are now available at Centreforce Australia. Protect the whole family for just a few cents per day!
